

Phonetics and Phonology in loanword adaptation (PaPLA 2017)

June 11, 2017

14:30 Invited talk:

Sharon Peperkamp (Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, Paris)
t.b.a.

15:10 Na-Young Ryu, Sungwoo Han & Yoonjung Kang (University of Toronto)
Phonetic and phonological adaptation of loanword: Mandarin falling diphthongs in Heritage Korean in China

15:30 Hyunsoon Kim & Junyeop Kim (Hongik University, Seoul)
Old vs. young Koreans' vowel insertion after word-final English and French postvocalic plosives: a sociolinguistic account

15:50 Zachary Jagers (New York University)
Loanword variation as a result of social influences on loanword adaptation

16:10 Poster session with tea and coffee

17:10 Invited talk:

Marko Simonović (Utrecht University)
t.b.a.

17:50 Jelena Stojković (University of Leipzig)
Syllabic sonorants, loanwords and 'wobbly /a/' in BCS – it's all one grammar

18:10 Stacey Jacobson (University of Alabama)
We hear, we see, we say: the role of orthography in the adaptation of loanwords from Spanish into English

18:30 Closing

Posters:

- Laura Bafile (Ferrara) & Diana Passino (Nice)
The adaptation of final consonants in Italian varieties
- Megan Burdick (University of York)
Can second-language phonological models predict vowel adaptations in Malay loanwords?
- Hyunsoon Kim (Hongik University, Seoul)
Korean adaptation of Japanese plosives followed by a H or L vowel
- Yoonjung Kang & Jessamyn Schertz (University of Toronto)
L2 categories in perceptual adaptation and implications for loanword phonology
- Sehrish Shafi & Sam Hellmuth (University of York)
The sociolinguistics of variable adaptation in English loanwords in Mirpuri Pahari
- Marjoleine Sloos (Fryske Akademy, Leeuwarden) & Nicoline van der Sijs (Radboud University, Nijmegen)
The development of a loanword: the interaction of frequency and grammar in Dutch loanword integration in Indonesian
- Melanie Uth (Köln)
The prosodic realization of Spanish loanwords in Yucatec Maya